An Improved Shuttle.
A shuttle manufacturer in Massachusetts has effected an improvement in that mechanism which promises to be of considerable practical value in the operations of wooden mills. In lieu of the ordinary hinged spindle for receiving and holding the bobbin of yarn, a short rigid spindle is employed in combination with two holding jaws, one above and the other below the head of the bobbin; the latter they clasp and securely hold in a central position, a single spiral spring being arranged in the base of the shuttle so as to exert an equal pressure on the bobbin holding jaws, between which it is placed. As a result of this unique construction all splitting of the bobbins arising from the use of the long pointed hinged spindle is obviated, with a consequent saving of waste yarn. The trouble from the breaking of this yarn by the canting of the spindle point in the weaving operation is also overcome.—New York Sun.

He Followed the Advice.
A little jobbing carpenter, unable to get his account for work done paid by his late employer, but at last taken up by a constable. The constable came on for him, defendant not appearing, and the plaintiff was briefly making the facts.
And did you then call at his house and demand payment? asked the magistrate.
"I did."
"What did he say?"
"He turned me out of doors and told me to go to my grandmother."
"Oh! And what did you do then?"
"I came on here for a summons."—London Tit-Bits.

Sweet Solitude.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.
Dangerous Champagne.
The well known epicurean taste of the French people seems to have driven some of them to their wits' end in order to satisfy the appetite in an inexpensive manner. In 1863 a Frenchman invented and obtained a patent on a process for making sparkling wine or champagne at a price reaching within the reach of all. His process is to take a bottle of ordinary still wine and pour into it a certain quantity of "Dutch bronze powder." The waiter then is instructed to shake the bottle violently before serving it to the customer. This, the inventor says, "will disturb the brilliant particles of powder, causing them to circulate through the wine, giving it the appearance of a high grade sparkling wine." Dutch bronze is chemically known as bismuthate of stannum, and is poisonous. It is that substance in manure ink which so quickly eats away a steel pen.—New York News.

Education.
What sculpture is to a block of marble, education is to a human soul. The philosopher, the saint and the hero, the wise, the good and the great man very often lie hid and concealed in a plebeian, which a proper education might have discovered and brought to light.—Addison.

VLADIMIR NICHOLAS RUMIN.

The intelligent police of San Francisco for once have performed an act which will give more genuine pleasure to the reading public who are conversant with George Kennan's travels in Siberia among the political prisoners than anything in police annals which has occurred in recent years. Vladimir Nicholas Rumin is governor of one of the convict provinces in Siberia, and among his other distinctions is a younger brother of Vladimir Nicholas, General-in-Chief of the army of the Czar, who is supposed to be the official closest to his much threatened majesty, and is also a wearer of the rare military distinction of the Cross of St. George, besides holding a Captainship in the Imperial Guard. As a Siberian Governor Vladimir Nicholas Rumin was all that his cruel master desired. In the underground dungeons of cold Siberia he laughed, sneered and drove and beat over one thousand unfortunate convicts, exiled from their mothers, wives, sisters and children for real and imaginary crimes.

Some months ago Vladimir Nicholas Rumin, in his frosty, Siberian retreat, grew restless and got permission of his imperial master for a six months' leave of absence in which to visit the prisoners of the United States in order to get pointers for the more perfect control of his unfortunate subjects.

The Czar, doubtless smarting under the strictures of Gen. Kennan, thought that perhaps Vladimir might discover equally damnable methods of prison torture in practice in this country, and cordially gave his consent.

It is just four days ago since Vladimir Nicholas Rumin landed in San Francisco from Yokohama. Personally the Russian is a short, heavily built man, about forty years of age. His countenance is lustful and cruel. His limbs are as strong as those of an ox. He is the possessor of a deep, fog horn voice, and speaks in habitual impatient accents.

A short while after landing in San Francisco Vladimir wended his way down to the city prison and, as a tour of inspection upon his own hook, unheralded by trumpet or even newspaper. He was observed by the vigilant guardians of the peace of the stout metropolitan city of the Pacific and ordered to vacate.

Vladimir Nicholas Rumin, wearer of the Cross of St. George, and brother of the General in Chief of the army of the Czar, did not understand English, and furthermore was accustomed to following his own sweet will, regardless of what other people might think or desire. So he paid no attention. The faithful conservators of law and order thought that Vladimir Nicholas Rumin was only a tramp who had indulged a little more tangled foot than was actually necessary. They seized hold of him and he promptly sent several of them in more ways than one with his powerful arms. It was, however, speedily overpowered, roaring and foaming meanwhile like a bull.

He yelled and cursed in French, German and Russian, the only languages which he could speak. But Pat and Teddy and Terrence of the squad did not understand either. Then Vladimir Nicholas Rumin was partially dragged and partially kicked and carried to a dark cell and locked up, his shoes being removed to prevent him kicking down the door. Here he made such tremendous use of vocal organs, raving and smashing up and down, that for fear of doing personal injury to himself, he was again seized and securely strapped down upon an iron cot, remaining there all night and until afternoon of the next day. Vladimir did not enjoy his slumbers that night nor did any of those who were in the immediate neighborhood.

A Russian tobaccoist about 4 o'clock the next day was called in by the police to interview their strange prisoner in order to find out what he might have to say for himself. The facts above given were elicited. Inquiries made of the Russian Consul further substantiated them and Vladimir was released.

So it goes without saying, after the above, that even the police of great cities may some times, however unwittingly, be the instruments to cause the sword and lash of justice to descend upon the back that has by best endeavor well merited them.

It is reported that the election of some of the Silver candidates in this county will be contested, but upon what ground is not stated. The Silver party nominees were elected upon such healthy majorities that it would not seem a profitable undertaking to contest them.

A Fatal Celebration.

FAIRFAXVILLE, Ark., Nov. 17.—The Democrats at Mountain View held a ratification meeting last night. A quantity of powder and fireworks were stored in the school house in which the speaking was held. The house was packed when an explosion accidentally ignited the explosives, wrecking the building and burying the occupants in the ruins. The debris took fire in several places and it was with the utmost difficulty that the rescuers were enabled to extinguish the flames before they cremated the persons pinned among the timbers. Perry, a colored man, one of the most prominent residents of the county, his son and daughter, Silas Graham and an unknown man were killed and fifteen others injured, some fatally.

Turner Knocked Out in the Eleventh Round.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—The Pacific Athletic club to-night resumed its program of monthly glove contests which had been interrupted for several weeks pending the general elections. The new wigwag where all of the club's fight fights have taken place, was packed with spectators at an early hour, the event on the card being a battle between Charley Turner, the colored middle weight of Stockton, and Jim Williams, the hard hitting pugilist from Salt Lake. The match, which was for a $1,500 purse, was the second which had been arranged between the men, Williams having forfeited to Turner several months ago owing to an attack of malaria. The contest was a good betting event and was well played by the sporting contingent who came in from Utah to witness it. From 7 o'clock in the evening the fight went into the pool boxes upon opening up at 20 to 19 on Turner, then rallying for space at even money, where several $50 and $100 bets were laid. A number of enthusiastic Williams men risked their money at times at odds of 20 to 15 with Turner on the short end, but at 8:15 P. M. Williams was favorite at 10 to 9.

There was much delay before the fight commenced and it was after 9:30 when all the preliminaries were settled. Turner weighed 153½ and Williams 167.

Williams stripped with nothing but a breech cloth and shoes on. He looked big beside the black man, and a murmur ran among the spectators that Turner was badly handicapped. Thomas Chandler, the veteran sporting man refereed the contest.

Time was called at 9:13 P. M. The men feinted several seconds, Williams breaking ground frequently. Turner appeared to think he could find an opening for his left on the chin, but after the men vainly tried to draw each other on the round closed without a blow being struck.

Second round—Williams feinted with his left and Turner bumped himself to the rear but soon after braced up to the big man and led a short left on the belt. Williams conveyed the idea of confident patience, while Turner, agile as ever, played for an opening. Turner led twice for the neck, and Williams' left passed over his head.

Third—Turner, as in the preceding rounds, met the Salt Lake man in the latter's corner, from which he retired as he drew Williams out. Charley led with his left on the wind and arm of Williams. Turner went for him hand over hand and then jabbed him in the wind as the round closed and ran to his corner from Williams' left.

Fourth—Williams' long left spoiled several of the Stocktonian's essays, but Turner caught him near the ropes with his left on the chest, soon following it up with both hands on the face.

Fifth—Williams scored a couple of rights on the ribs, but Turner jabbed him a couple of hard ones in the face, and a right on the elbow. Williams gave him a right smash on the head and a pretty bit of fighting followed, the little Stocktonian giving the big man his right and left like a fury, dropping him once and sending him spinning the second time. The men fought themselves nearly out in one of the hottest rounds ever seen here, Turner clinging to the Salt Lake man and raining blows on him, nearly closing both his eyes.

Sixth—Turner was in much better condition and forced the pace. Williams' long arms flew about wildly, but landed every time on Turner's head. The latter continued to jab him in the face desperately and amid the tumult of the spectators the men fought themselves to a standstill, Turner going down twice from the force of Williams' blows.

Seventh—Both men came up shaky. Turner was badly handicapped by the great reach and superior height of the Salt Lake man, but honors were comparatively even. Williams had but to send out his left and find the Stocktonian's head as the latter rushed in in an endeavor to score a knock out with a right swing. At the middle of the round both men were standing in the center of the ring exchanging weak blows, though with all the desperation they were capable of.

Eighth—Turner fought the white man into the latter's corner and over the ropes. Williams retreated to another corner and Turner bore him to the floor. The men clinched and Turner held Williams against the ropes, punching him amid cries of "foul." They were separated by the referee after much trouble.

Ninth—In the terrific slugging of the last three rounds Turner certainly got the hardest blows, but he recovered with surprising rapidity. A smash in Williams' face was the best blow of this round.

Tenth—Williams forced the fighting and got Turner on the run. He captured him, however, and rained his long arms upon the slight figure of the Stocktonian until the latter was forced to catch at the former's gloves to protect himself. He dropped to his knees as the round closed.

Eleventh—Williams forced the pace and landed both hands. Turner fled, but Williams leaped after him and dropped him squarely in his tracks with terrific right hander on the neck. He remained too long and was counted out. He arose and staggered to his corner, but could not have struck another blow if the whole purse had depended on it.

A Fearful Railroad Wreck.

KINGMAN, A. T., Nov. 17.—One of the worst wrecks ever known on the A. & P. road occurred seven miles east of Rockberry this morning. A broken wheel under the smoker threw the car off the track on a trestle and four other cars followed down the steep embankment. One man was killed and thirteen badly wounded, four of whom will die. The trainman crawled out through the top of the rear coach and dragged the second section of the train to prevent it crashing into the wreck. The dead and injured were taken to Peotik Springs. The names of the victims or any other particulars are not obtainable to-night.

A San Francisco Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—A particularly bloody murder occurred on Montgomery Avenue early this morning, when "Big Belle" Sullivan was stabbed and killed by Pat Sullivan, who went under the title of the woman's husband.

The woman is a waitress in a beer hall and was coming from breakfast at a restaurant with a companion named Kittie Ennis when they met near the Newton House, where they roomed, Sullivan, with whom the murdered woman had not lived for some time.

Sullivan grabbed the woman by the arm and with a few incoherent remarks, pulled out a large sheath knife and, despite her struggles, plunged it into her rapidly. The first blow ripped a gash on the left side of scalp over three inches long, and the second blow was similar to the first, but half an inch lower. The Ennis woman screamed for assistance and the other dragged her hurriedly along the pavement in her effort to get away. Sullivan held on and inflicted ten gasping wounds in her body, one nearly severing the left arm from the shoulder.

The woman's shouting attracted the attention of Manuel Silva who lived near by, and he ran to the woman's aid. Sullivan attacked him, but with the assistance of a police officer he was finally manacled and dragged to the city prison, while the woman was removed to the hospital where she soon died. Sullivan was taken to the morgue to review the remains, and exclaimed with an oath, "I'm glad she's dead. I got the knife from a whaler on purpose to kill her."

The woman was 30 years of age and of large proportions, weighing about 200 pounds. She was formerly the wife of an Oakland policeman named Taylor, but left him four years ago to live with Sullivan, who kept the "Stag" saloon in this city. Sullivan sold the saloon about a year ago and for some time lived on the woman's earnings. Her refusal to further support him is supposed to have led to the tragedy. Four months ago the woman concluded to leave him and did so. After that he haunted her day and night, and threatened to kill her. He was arrested every few days and was released the last time on Sunday morning.

Will Contest the Election.

PORTLAND, November 17.—It is understood that the Democratic State Central Committee will contest the election of the Republican elector receiving the lowest vote on the grounds that Nathan Pierce, the elector on the Populist ticket and who was endorsed by the Democrats, did not have his full vote counted. In printing the official ballots Pierce's name was printed under both the Populist and Democratic groups by the Democratic County Clerks, while the Republicans printed it only under the Populist group. It is alleged by the Democrats that in counting the vote the Republican judges threw out the ballots where Pierce's name appeared twice. It is claimed that in Clatsop county alone six hundred votes for Pierce were not counted. As the count stands, Pierce is only a few hundred behind. The Democrats say they make the contest, not because Pierce's vote is needed in the electoral college, but they want to make a test case.

He Saw the Meteor Fall.

PETALUMA, Nov. 17.—The meteor seen last Monday near Cloverdale fell on the ranch of F. K. Sprowles, just over the county line in Lake county. Sprowles was out hunting quail and the meteor fell within about twenty feet of him. He was knocked down by the shock and it was about five minutes before he recovered his senses. It made a deep hole in the ground where it struck and many pieces of meteoric metal were lying around for a space of 200 feet. Some of the specimens Sprowles carried to San Francisco to have assayed.

San Francisco Races.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—Five and a half furlongs—Gibson won, Gerline second, E-spanz third. Time, 1:00 1/4. One mile—Lottis Mills won, Santa Fe second, Revolver third. Time, 1:41. Five furlongs—Hedge Rose won, Carlos second. Time, 1:01.

Gerhart Miller of Willow Point had his foot mashed yesterday on the road this side of the toll house, says the Silver State. He was bringing a load of hay to town and while walking beside the wagon, it tipped over and one of the wheels passed over his foot. Dr. Cartwright attended the injured man and set the broken bones.

PEOPLE FIND

That it is not wise to experiment with cheap compounds purporting to be blood-purifiers, but which have no real medicinal value. To make use of any other than the old standard AYER'S Sarsaparilla—the Superior Blood-purifier—is simply to invite loss of time, money, and health. If you are afflicted with Scrofula, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Eczema, Running Sores, Tumors, or any other blood disease, be assured that

It Pays to Use

AYER'S Sarsaparilla, and AYER'S only. AYER'S Sarsaparilla can always be depended upon. It does not vary. It is always the same in quality, quantity, and effect. It is superior in combination, proportion, appearance, and in all that goes to build up the system weakened by disease and pain. It searches out all impurities in the blood and expels them by the natural channels.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5. Cures others, will cure you.

Fears of an Indian Outbreak.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—A special to the Express states that much excitement and alarm was caused in northeastern Arizona by the threats of a band of Navajos under Chief Blackhorse going to war against the whites. A request was sent for troops, but General McCook thinks that that contingency has not arrived and believes that a little exercise of caution will prevent a hostile outbreak. He telegraphed to the Indian agent to have the head men of the nation get together and call off Blackhorse.

Farmers Rejoicing.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., N. V. 17.—The heavy storm of to-day throughout Missouri and portions of southwestern Nebraska and southwestern Iowa will greatly benefit the winter wheat. Reports received at various railroad offices is that the fall of snow was as good as a heavy rain fall and has saved the winter wheat.

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, according to the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings, which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "Glanders," which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can SCROFULA Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and powerful medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofula sore neck from the time she was 22 months old. She became six years of age. Pimples formed in her neck, and one of them grew to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLISLE, Naughton, N. J.

A CHANCE FOR OUR GIRLS.

A Wall from Wadsworth and a Carload Wanted. F. D. Q.

The following touching walls, comparable only to the last sighs of the moor for pure and unadulterated paths, come from the pulsating bosoms of the lone, lone swains of Wadsworth, as voiced in the Dispatch, and wait themselves upon the east wind like the exquisite odors of the cabbage which bloomed Spring before last, tra-la:
"Somebody write to Boston for a carload of girls."
And again:
"Girls come to Wadsworth; good people; nice young men; good wages; rivals scarce; more children to the square foot than any other town in the State."
Ah, nice young men! And the children! Think of it! More child to the size of their feet than any town in the State. On the simple ground of economy in shoe leather this is a strong inducement and should have been dwelt upon more largely than the Dispatch has seen fit to. Another inducement remarkable for not being mentioned is the fact that chewing gum grows upon the sagebrush around Wadsworth. So girls by all means go. Go to Wadsworth. Leave the low vaulted past and his hence to the land where rivals are scarce and the promulgators of Eden bloom sweetly forever, and nice young men abound plentifully and children are not disproportionate to the size of their hats. Go.

Clara Morris.

A tremendous audience should greet Clara Morris at the Opera House next Saturday evening, for she is unquestionably the greatest actress of her time in what is known as the emotional drama.
Aside from her command of physical symptoms Clara Morris has one other and undoubtedly a much higher gift, which her orator is slow to acknowledge and her audience quick to feel.
It is the ability to be deadly in earnest whenever she has a wrong to complain of or a sacrifice to make. At such times she appears to pass over into conditions of personal experience. Her voice becomes strenuous and intense, her muscles betray her stress, she arrests the breath and stops the beating of the heart by the undecimated concentration of her tones and the freighted poignancy of her manner.
It is therefore as Niobe, and not as "bus-kined nymph of unfettered joy" that the world consents to regard Clara Morris, and it is very certain that through her has come to us some of the inexplicable walls of orphaned humanity; and, far away, meries of woman's fidelity and anguish, and phantom faces of silent wrongs wrought upon by love and despair. If men and women turn still from the allegro of life to this pensive one it is because in it there still continues to tremble and weep some of the truths that lie along the right side of nature, and some of the gifts that occasionally break into art without so much as your leave.

A Lodge of Pythian Sisters Organized at Wadsworth.

The Wadsworth Dispatch says: Mrs. Lizzie A. Miller of Austin as Deputy Supreme Chief, assisted by Mrs. J. Sterritt, also of Austin, organized Calanthe Temple No. 3 of Pythian Sisters at Pythian Castle, Wadsworth, on Friday, November 11, 1892, and installed the following officers: Miss Agnes Steele, Past Chief of the Temple; Mrs. W. MacPherson, Most Excellent Chief; Mrs. W. H. A. Pike, Excellent Senior of the Temple; Mrs. F. Kiem, Excellent Junior of the Temple; Mrs. J. F. George, Sister Manager of the Temple; Mrs. A. Arthur, Sister Mistress of Record and Correspondence; Mrs. J. B. Finley, Sister Mistress of Finance; Miss Maggie Donella, Sister Protector of the Temple; Miss Clara Finley, Sister Guard of the Outer Temple.
The work of organizing began Friday and was completed Saturday evening, at which time an excellent repast was served and the Sisters began their good work.
Temple No. 3 will be of great help to Pyramid No. 19, and we predict a rapid growth in the membership. Monday evening the Temple gave their first dance at Music Hall. The ballroom was handsomely and tastefully decorated, the colors being yellow, white, red and blue, symbolic of Equality, Purity, Love and Fidelity. Streamers bearing Friendship, Charity and Benevolence adorned the ceiling, while colored triangles for Hall and Temple ornamented the stage. The grand march was led by G. A. MacPherson and Miss Annette Bowers, and the Uniform Rank participating with good things were found at the Wadsworth hotel, where supper was served. Everything in connection with Calanthe Temple No. 3 has thus far been a success and we opine it will be of great good all around. May it prosper.

S. S. Sears returned yesterday morning from Santa Cruz, Cal., where he was called a short time since, his son having been shot in the thigh by a ball from a squirrel rifle. Mr. Sears reported his boy getting along nicely. The ball passed through the fleshy part of the right thigh and lodged in the bone of the left where it still remains the doctor thinking it best not to probe farther.

Deserves Attention.
If you have money to invest in Reno real estate, either in large or small amounts, the Reno Real Estate and Investment Company offers most particular inducements to you. By investing in its shares of stock you participate in its investments which are governed by its able and experienced Board of Trustees, consisting of Mr. O. T. Bender, Mr. Sol Levy, Mr. O. C. Powning, Mr. Geo. F. Tarrittin and Mr. A. G. Fletcher. The principle object of the company is to purchase and improve centrally located business property in the city of Reno. Everyone is of one mind as to the desirability of such investments.
The company is incorporated with a capital of $100,000, divided into 20,000 shares of the par value of five dollars each, and from its already large list of share holders there is every reason to believe that it is destined to become one of the most flourishing companies in the State. Of its 20,000 shares there have been 12,000 sold since August 1st.
Its shares are sold upon the monthly installment plan of ten cents per share, installments to range over a period of fifty months. In this way persons of moderate means are enabled to combine and participate in investments that usually only fall to the lot of the fortunate capitalist. Mr. F. M. Lee, the Secretary of the company, will be pleased to furnish any desired information.
Will be Brought Back.
31 Sheriff Fellows received word yesterday that Frank W. Freeman, the young fellow who swindled several Winnemuccas out of various sums by means of bogus drafts, had been arrested at Elko. The officers there telegraphed that Freeman offered to refund the amount the drafts called for. The sheriff replied that if the prisoner paid back the money and the costs of catching him, those whom he defrauded would not prosecute him. Freeman refused to pay the costs and Deputy Sheriff Nofsinger left for Elko this morning to bring him back to answer to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.—Silver State.

Telling the Truth.
It's common saying that newspapers lie, but when an editor writes a thing and puts his name to it you may be sure that he is telling the truth. Read this: "We have never before said one word in favor of any patent medicine advertisement in our columns, but having given Simmons Liver Regulator a fair trial, we do not hesitate to say, that for Dyspepsia and general debility it cannot be excelled."—Fred M. Childs, editor "News," Kenton, Ohio.
James Fory, a young Savage miner, received a serious injury while at work Tuesday evening. He accidentally ran a wire into one of his eyes and nearly destroyed the sight. The injury was so severe that it was thought best for the young man to go to San Francisco for treatment. He left for that city last night accordingly.—Enterprise.
